Application Procedure For All-America

The National Interscholastic Swimming Coaches Association and the National Spa and Pool Institute are co-sponsors of the interscholastic All-America program each year. The All-America program includes swimming, diving, water polo and academics.

In order to be considered for one of these All-America lists that are published every year in Swimming World magazine, a coach must make application through the chairman of the various All-America committees.

Each year, there are a number of deserving student-athletes omitted from the All-America list simply because application was not made for their performances. It should not be assumed that if an athlete exceeds the minimum qualifying standard for consideration that they will be considered. State meet results sent to the chairman are for verification purposes only. They do not constitute application for the All-America list.

There are also two classifications to the swimming and diving All-America lists. The first classification is public schools. These schools are defined as schools that are supported by state and local taxes. The second classification is independent schools, which are defined as schools that charge tuition to attend. They are not supported by state and local taxes.

If you are a coach who coaches high school swimmers and divers who exceed the qualification standards, or if you are a swimmer who swims in a bona-fide interscholastic season, your performances must be applied for through the NISCA All-America chairman.

For more information concerning the All-America programs and to receive applications, you may either write or call your state athletic office or write John Webb, All-America Chairman, 10522 Fawnview Drive, Houston, TX 77070.

The intention and goal of NISCA is to eventually be able to recognize every deserving athlete on the All-America lists. Your coach does not have to be a member of NISCA in order for application to be made for one or more of the All-America lists. □
