- Coach: Charlie Stillwell
- Last Year: 5-2, second in the Catholic League
- Key Losses: three graduates
- Key Returnees: Carol Crouthamel, senior; Mary Skonicki, senior; Michelle Long, senior; Shannon Seckenger, junior; Theresa Skonicki, sophomore.
- Outlook: Wood missed first place in the Catholic League Championships by 15 points last season. With Crouthamel, a 2000 Olympic hopeful in the breaststroke, and Mary Skonicki swimming successfully in all events, the team has a solid core.

Add Long, Seckenger (all events), a four-time first place winner, and Theresa Skonicki (any event), Wood may have the ingredients for a successful season.

If the talent on this team blends well, the mix results will have this team around the top of the League.

Swimmers to watch

■ Carol Crouthamel, Archbishop Wood. The senior has qualified for the Olympic trials in the 200-meter breaststroke. She has signed with Minnesota.

■ Megan Daney, Council Rock. A senior, Daney swam in the PIAA Class AAA state championships last season in the 100 freestyle and 400 freestyle relays. She has committed to Syracuse.

■ Moira Durkin, Gwynedd-Mercy Academy. Durkin, a senior, finished second in the Class AA state meet last year in the 200 individual medley and the 100 backstroke. She has signed with Villanova.

■ Krystle Eberwein, Upper Dublin. At the Class AAA state meet last season, Eberwein finished second in the 500 and 200 freestyle events. She will attend Penn State.

■ Lori Eberwein, Upper Dublin. She beat her twin sister to win Class AAA state titles in the 500 and 200 freestyle last year. Eberwein has signed with Michigan.

■ Erin Galetti, Upper Moreland. A senior, Galetti is a three-time state qualifier who owns school records in the 100-yard breaststroke and the 100-yard butterfly.

■ Marie Labosky, Germantown Academy. Labosky, a senior, has made Olympic trial cut times in the 400 IM, the 100 backstroke, and 200 backstroke. She is headed to Notre Dame.

■ Katie Lewis, Central Bucks East. A sophomore, Lewis was among the top five divers in District 1 Class AAA last year and qualified for the state meet.

■ Krystal Mason, Upper Moreland. Mason, a senior, is one of the best divers in the Suburban One League and in District 1. She qualified for the state meet last year.

■ Melissa Morrissy, Hatboro-Horsham. Morrissy, a senior who swims the breaststroke, was on the medley relay team that placed fourth at the state meet last year.

■ Becky Naudasher, North Penn. Naudasher, a senior, is a state qualifier who clocked 24.9 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle.

■ Katie Nellet, Hatboro-Horsham. Nellet, a senior who competes in the butterfly, joined Morrissy on the medley team that placed fourth at the state meet.

■ Janine O'Toole, William Tennent. The senior finished among the top five divers in the Suburban One League and District 1 and qualified for the state meet.

■ Meghan Peart, Germantown Academy. A sophomore, Peart has met the Olympic trial standard in the 50 freestyle. She is the nation's fastest 15-year-old in the event.

■ Maureen Schriver, North Penn. The junior already has established herself as the Maidens' "Ms. Versatility" with her preseason workouts.

Teams to watch

■ Archbishop Wood. The Vikings were second in the Catholic League last season. Among the top returnees are seniors Carol Crouthamel (breaststroke), Mary Skonicki (freestyle, backstroke), and Jillian Fitzgerald (freestyle), and sophomore Theresa Skonicki (butterfly, freestyle).

The Archbishop Wood and Lansdale Catholic boys swim teams hope to continue improving.

The Vikings and Crusaders struggled last season, but may have the competitors to take big steps forward in 1999-2000.

Archbishop Wood

Coach: Charlie Stillwell

Last year's record: 1-6

Starters lost: 0

Key returners: The Vikings will continue to rebuild their program with a sophomore-dominated team. In all, only four seniors return as the Vikings strive to improve their record.

Matt McKenzie leads the group as a co-captain. By the end of last season, he had dropped his time two seconds in the freestyle at the PCL championships and is expected to continue his improvement this year. The other seniors returning are

Boys Swimming

Chris Richards (sprint freestyle), Matt Dansbury (sprint and distance freestyle and butterfly), Patrick Upham (IM, breaststroke and backstroke).

Kyle Brennecke and Chris Augustine may be the most talented returning sophomores. Brennecke did well at the PCL meet last year as a freshman and is expected to continue upward this season specializing in the backstroke. Augustine is a distance swimmer who is expected to expand his swimming into strokes other than freestyle. Other sophomores being looked at to add much needed depth to the Viking lineup are Tom Keiser and Patrick Upham.

Newcomers: The Vikings are counting highly on the addition of Matt O'Connor, a sophomore transfer from Council Rock. With the experience he garnered in the Indians program, Stillwell foresees a bright future for O'Connor in PCL competition.

The coach is also looking for Sean improvement

Stillwell, who has been competing for three years at the club level, and Kevin Whalen to make contributions to the teams overall performance.

Outlook: With added numbers, coach Stillwell is looking for a brighter season than last year.

"The five new swimmers we're adding should give us another step upward in the rebuilding process," Stillwell said. "We were mostly a freshmen team last year. A full year of experience against tough competition will help us this year."

- Last Year: 1-7, Catholic League
- Key Losses: Brant Steen (transfer)
- Key Returnees: Matt McKenzie, senior; Patrick Upham, senior; Tom Keiser, sophomore; Chris Augustine, sophomore.

• Outlook: Stillwell comes into the 1999-2000 season without a lot of upper-class experience. Seniors McKenzie (freestyle, backstroke) and Upham (all events) will provide some leadership on a quickly rebuilding team.

Augustine, Keiser and newcomer Matthew O'Connor (individual medley and distance freestyle) give the team hope in the sophomore class.

The three freshmen, Kevin Whelan, John Dixon and Sean Stillwell are adequate building blocks for the future.

This will be the year for underclassman to turn the corner for Wood. The future looks like it is in good hands with the youngsters.

Crouthamel, Wood have high hopes

Carol Crouthamel is hoping to make this a winter to remember at Archbishop Wood. The Vikings' most versatile swimmer, Crouthamel has helped Wood climb from also-ran to contender status during her previous years with the program.

Last year, Wood won all five of its Philadelphia Catholic League regular-season dual meets. The Vikings, however, came up just shy of their first PCL team championship since 1991. They lost in the title meet by 15 points to Cardinal O'Hara.

O'Hara's superior depth was the deciding factor. Few could argue that Wood possessed more individual talent. The Vikings won nine events, while O'Hara didn't finish first in any.

Wood welcomes back most of its top-notch swimmers this year; Crouthamel, Jillian Fitzgerald, Shannon Seckinger and Mary Skonicki will likely make many visits to the medal stand again at this season's PCL championships. It's going to take higher-quality depth, though, to help the Vikings climb that final step and come home with the title, and Crouthamel is confident the Vikings have added that ingredient.

"I'm really excited," she said. "We have a really strong team. We've added some really good freshmen. Each year, we keep getting closer, and this is the year it could happen."

"We have the swimmers to get first places, but we need to get more of those fifths and sixths."

Wood hasn't competed in a dual meet yet - Dec. 23 against Gwynedd-Mercy is the first non-league dual meet on the schedule - so it's difficult to say how much of an impact the Vikings' nine freshmen will have this season. Wood also added a senior, Brynn Bailey, who is back on the team for the first time since ninth grade. She'll try to add depth in the sprint freestyles and breaststroke.

Jeff Saukaitis
Swimming

The breaststroke is also Crouthamel's best event, although she is proficient in all strokes. She qualified for Senior Nationals in the 100- and 200-meter breaststroke events last year, so she hopes to qualify again during her club season with Newtown-based Spirit Swimming.

During her season with Wood, Crouthamel wants to continue her personal success and provide the kind of leadership she thinks it will take to lift the Vikings to the top of the PCL.

"I try to be a role model," Crouthamel said. "As a leader, I want to make sure everybody knows they are contributing. It doesn't matter how fast you swim, it's whether you go out and do your best."

Crouthamel recently removed some pressure from herself when she signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Minnesota on a swimming scholarship. Three months ago, Crouthamel was considering five schools: Minnesota, Michigan, Miami, Northwestern and Florida. She then narrowed it to Minnesota, Michigan and Miami before finally settling on Minnesota last month.

"I loved the whole atmosphere at Minnesota," said Crouthamel, who wants to major in secondary education and eventually become an English teacher. "The coach and the team are great. They seem focused not only on swimming, but on academics, too. It felt like the right place for me."

Wood eases to win over Hallahan

Archbishop Wood knocked off John W. Hallahan, 76-51, in a Philadelphia Catholic League girls swimming meet Wednesday.

The Vikings received individual wins from Elizabeth Grossmayer in the 200-yard freestyle, Lindsey Stillwell in the 50 freestyle and Lisa Dudek in the 500 freestyle.

The 400-yard free relay team of Tricia Dixon, Kelly Dansbury, Mary Skonicki and Theresa Skonicki placed first with a time of 4:36.79.

LC seeks improvement in pool

In the Philadelphia Catholic League last season, Archbishop Wood was dominant with several quality individuals, including senior Carol Crouthamel, who recently committed to the University of Minnesota on a swimming scholarship.

This season, the Vikings will be deep and talented and one of the favorites to take the Philadelphia Catholic League crown.

At Lansdale Catholic, improvement is the name of the game, as increased numbers and a host of returning district qualifiers has the Crusaders thinking about upping last year's win total.

Archbishop Wood

Coach: Charlie Stillwell
Last year's record: 5-2
Seniors lost: 3

Key returners: After just missing the Philadelphia Catholic League championship by 15 points, the Vikings are looking to take the title this season. One of the main reasons they are optimistic is their strong group of seniors.

Carol Crouthamel, who already has qualified for the 2000 Olympic Trials in the breaststroke and is undefeated in PCL competition for the past three years, returns as the Vikings' leading swimmer. She is joined by Mary Skonicki, a solid all-around swimmer who took four firsts in the PCL championships and specializes in the backstroke and middle distance frees.

Girls Swimming

Jillian Fitzgerald is a pure sprinter who placed second in the 50 and 100 freestyles in the PCL meet last year. Rounding out the seniors are Michelle Long (backstroke and freestyle), Tricia Dixon (breaststroke) and Laura Reinhardt (sprint freestyle).

Returning to lead the juniors is Shannon Sackenger, who picked up four first-place finishes last season. An all around swimmer, she specializes in backstroke, individual medley and distance frees.

Mary Dixon showed constant improvement a year ago and is back to pick up where she left off in the back and breaststrokes.

Rounding out the junior swimmers are Kristina Carroll (butterfly), Colleen Hallman (IM and backstroke) and Elizabeth Dufner (distance freestyle and butterfly).

Theresa Skonicki leads a solid group of returning sophomores.

Newcomers: Angela Nurek is back in the pool after passing up swimming competition for a few years. She is expected to improve the Vikings' fortunes, as are six incoming freshmen with club swimming experience. Among the experienced frosh are Kelly DiBiagio, Meghan Bredin and Marianne Reuter.

Outlook: To say there is a lot of optimism at Wood would be an understatement.

"With our top swimmers coming back this year and our added depth," Stillwell said, "We look to be a favorite to win the (PCL title). We should have the scoring punch we lacked in our dual meets and the points we need at the championship meet."

Wood upended; Souderton prevails

Matt MacKenzie and Matt O'Connor had a hand in four event victories apiece Friday, but Archbishop Wood's boys swim team dropped an 84-77 verdict to Father Judge in a Philadelphia Catholic League meet at Klinger Middle School.

Swimming

Individually, MacKenzie tied for first place in the 50-yard freestyle (23.53 seconds) and 100 free (52.22). He teamed with O'Connor, Kevin Whelen and Chris Augustine to win the 200 free relay (1:41.73), and joined O'Connor, Augustine and Patrick Upham in capturing the 400 freestyle (3:47.56).

O'Connor prevailed in the 100 butterfly (57.49) and 100 backstroke (59.22).

LaSalle wins third straight National title

By Ron D'Orazio
Sportswriter

The National Catholics swimming meet invites talent from parochial schools around the country. To find the three-time champion of the competition, one has to look no further than LaSalle High.

The LaSalle Explorers completed their three-peat at the National Catholics finals, winning the boys category by 61 points over second-place Loyola Blakefield.

Ever since 1998, LaSalle returned home champion of a meet that it considers a warm-up for a much larger meet.

On Feb. 25, LaSalle's swimmers line up against teams like Germantown Academy and Mercersburg, two schools that are considered state powers, at the Easterns meet.

As for now, the Explorers, many of whom were under the weather, will settle for a hard-fought win even though they managed just two first-place finishes in the events.

Senior captain Brad Green swam a 1:46.65 to take the 200 freestyle for the Explorers' first win.

"I knew that Joey Tan, from Paul VI, was going to go fast," Green said of the 200 freestyle race. "I didn't know what I could do. I tried to hang with him until the last 25 and then I made my move."

Chris Jeffers gained more points for LaSalle by finishing fourth in the race with Green.

LaSalle's major performance came from its relay teams with a win and a pair of runner-up spots.

"Our trademark has been our depth," said LaSalle coach Frank Lichtner. "I have a lot of good swimmers. Our 200 free relay team won and we placed second in the other two relays. Even in the 400 relay, we took out our top four and put in another four and they got second."

Lichtner noted seniors such as Green, Mike Harrigan, Kevin Dougherty, Greg Hylinski, Kevin Hughes, Matt Wahl, Kiran Bryers and Brian Bocker for stepping up their play in the finals.

"Kevin Dougherty is a good athlete who filled on the second-place medley and the winning freestyle teams," Lichtner said. "We were proud that Bocker wanted to swim.

He was real sick."

Along with LaSalle, the Archbishop Wood girls made a solid showing at the National Catholics.

Wood captured the top spot in four events on its way to a third-place standing, behind Good Counsel and Notre Dame Prep. Shannon Seckinger (200 individual medley, 100 backstroke) and Carol Crouthamel (100 breaststroke) both gained first-place in their events and were parts of a 200 medley relay, along with Mary Skonicki and Jillian Fitzgerald, that started the meet with a win.

"Everyone was pretty excited and we all kept each other going," Seckinger said. "I went out and swam with whatever I had in the 100 (backstroke)."

The Wood boys squad ended up 13th with 16 points.

Both LaSalle and Wood will use their performances as confidence builders for Easterns.

In addition to Easterns, the Wood girls, who are 4-1, will vie for the Catholic League Championship in the first weekend of March.

"Our ultimate goal is to win the PCLs," said Wood coach Charlie Stillwell. "We pretty much go into the same situation as last year where they are really good at the top. We got to add some of the depth. We were working hard this year to get more yardage and we got a few more kids.

"The boys are going to be great. They are swimming out of their minds. They are a much improved team."

"Our medley relay was a big high-point," Crouthamel said. "I think we won the 200 IM and 100 backstroke, which was great. Overall, everybody did really well. It's always exciting. It's a change from the regular PCL meets.

"We are going to Easterns at the end of February and I want to win the breaststroke. I would love for our team to win the PCL's as well. At PCL's, we have to have great swims every single time."

If either team swims as well as it did in the National Catholics, both could take home PCL titles and make people take second looks at Easterns.

"At Easterns, we are taking the role of the little guy trying to make some noise," Green said.

Archbishop Wood 76, Hallahan 51— Shannon Seckinger won the 100 breaststroke in 1:15.44 as Archbishop Wood downed Hallahan. The victory for Seckinger was a tune-up before the National Catholic trials over the weekend. Elizabeth Grossmeyer, Lindsay Stillwerr, Meghan Bredin and Lisa Dudek picked up event wins for Wood, who is now 4-1 on the season.

Wood 107, Archbishop Ryan 61

Archbishop Wood took 10 of 11 events on its way to a 107-61 boys swimming victory over Archbishop Ryan in a Philadelphia Catholic League meet Thursday.

Matt O'Connor, who won the 200-yard individual medley and 100 butterfly, and swam a leg of the winning 200 freestyle relay, led the Vikings (1-2). Chris Augustine added an equal number of wins, with individual victories in the 200 freestyle, 500 freestyle and a share of the winning 200 freestyle relay.

Archbishop Wood's Fitzgerald focuses on mining freestyle gold

By Ira Josephs
INQUIRER SUBURBAN STAFF

What Jillian Fitzgerald lacks in endurance, she makes up in perseverance.

The Archbishop Wood senior has swum the 50-yard freestyle three times in the Catholic League championships. She finished third as a freshman and second as both a sophomore and a junior.

There's no secret surrounding her goal this season. Fitzgerald wants the gold.

"I would really like to win it this season," she said.

Wood coach Charlie Stillwell would like to see Fitzgerald win it.

"I can tell by her work ethic she is really going to do well," Stillwell said. "I know she is looking to be first in the league. She's on a mission to improve her times."

Fitzgerald owns a best of 25.1 seconds in the 50 freestyle, but she can also swim the butterfly and the breaststroke.

In the Vikings' first two meets — the Central Bucks East Relay Carnival two weeks ago and Saturday's North-South Relays at St. Joseph's University — Fitzgerald swam backstroke and butterfly legs.

When it's time to get serious, she will concentrate on the 50 freestyle.

"It's just an all-out sprint," Fitzgerald said. "You just go. I have speed, but not much endurance."

But endurance is an area in which Fitzgerald is improving.

"We're actually doing more yardage this year," she said. "That has helped me a lot."

Fitzgerald is a tricapitain with seniors Michelle Long and Nicole Torano on a team that finished second to Cardinal O'Hara in the league championships last season. "She leads by example," Stillwell said. "She organizes pasta parties. It's nice to see her grow and get to know everybody."

Wood posts top three finishes in two events

PHILADELPHIA — Germantown Academy must have carried a one-two punch into the Eastern Interscholastic Swimming & Diving Championships this weekend, because the Patriots won the boys' meet and finished second in the girls' competition Saturday night at LaSalle University.

Germantown Academy finished with 384 team points to capture its first boys' title since 1989. Mercersburg Academy placed second with 361 points, and Kiski School was third with 341.

Archbishop Wood posted top-three finishes in two events. Shannon Seckinger finished third in the backstroke, behind Labosky and White, and the Vikings placed third in the medley relay.

Fran Crippen led the way for the GA boys with victories in the 200 and 500 freestyles. Mercersburg's Jason Thomas placed second in both events, but what was noteworthy was the difference in times. Thomas put up a good fight in the 200 with a time of 1:40.95, which was just a shade under Crippen's winning time of 1:39.57.

In the 500, Crippen left his rival far behind him. He not only finished more than 15 seconds ahead, Crippen broke both the meet record and the national prep school record by finishing with a time of 4:20.44. The old record was 4:21.98, which was set by the Peddie School's Jim Wells in 1991.

Wharton went on to win a silver medal in the 1988 Seoul Olympics.

Also winning events for the Patriots were Alex Fong, who took the 200 individual medley with a time of 1:51.56, and Joey Muantongchin, who touched out Suffield Academy's Mike Pohorylo to claim the 100 breaststroke.

Muantongchin's time was 57.78. Pohorylo finished at 57.97.

Also, Fong, Muantongchin, Ryan

Smith and Matt Anthony combined to win the 200 medley relay.

Other teams from the area also placed well at Easterns. LaSalle took sixth overall with a team score of 275 1/2 points, many of them coming in the relay races. The Explorers took second in the 200 freestyle relay (Rob Queroli, Brad Green, Brian Bacher, Jeff Paul) and third in the 400 freestyle relay (Green, Chris Jeffers, Matt Wahl, Paul).

The Peddie School won the girls' meet with 528 points. GA was second with 505 1/2 points, followed by Mercersburg (328) and Archbishop Wood (186).

The Patriots began the competition by winning the medley relay.

Marie Labosky, Lauren Rossi, Becky Layne and Megan Peart combined to finish with a time of 1:45.33, which tied the national prep school record set by the Bolles School in 1992.

Wood swim star is achieving the success that she envisions

By Ira Josephs
INQUIRER SUBURBAN STAFF

Mary Skonicki isn't daydreaming, she's visualizing.

While the Archbishop Wood senior may be staring blankly as she waits at a traffic light, her arms and legs are splashing through imaginary water. She sees each race before she swims it, and the result usually is favorable in her mind and in the pool.

"Before big meets, I'll start two weeks in advance visualizing races," she said. "When you visualize, it makes it so much easier."

"Usually, it will be before I go to bed. But I'll visualize when I'm driving. I'll pay attention to the road, but my mind is occupied."

Both Skonicki's diving and swimming records are stellar. As a junior last year, she won the 100-yard and 200-yard freestyle races in the Catholic League championships and also swam on Wood's victorious 200-yard and 400-yard freestyle relay teams. As a sophomore, she had won league titles in the 100 freestyle and the 100 backstroke and had swum on the winning 200 freestyle and 200 medley relay teams. Don't suggest that Skonicki is a freestyle specialist, who just dab-bles in other strokes. She is a threat in freestyle, backstroke, and butterfly. She has gone under a minute in the 100-yard butterfly.

"I'd say I'm a freestyler first, then the backstroke, and then the butterfly," she said. "They're all pretty close. It changes every year. One year it's the backstroke, and another year it's the freestyle or the butterfly. I'll do anything. It's always been that way."

Skonicki would even swim the breaststroke, if she were asked. "That's not likely, though. The Vikings have Carol Crouthamel, a senior who has qualified for the U.S. Olympic trials in the 200-meter breaststroke."

"That's all for her," Skonicki joked. "She can take it."

Wood coach Charlie Stillwell says he is fortunate to have Skonicki and Crouthamel as part of talented and tenacious senior class.

"The group of seniors I have is killer," Stillwell said. "We'll never have another class like this. It's going to be sad when they go."

Though Crouthamel has reached the highest level of any of the Vikings, Skonicki may be the team's best all-around swimmer. "She is one of a kind," Stillwell said. "She is just so good at anything, and you can put her anywhere. She excels at so much that sometimes she goes unnoticed."

"I'll put her in events that will be real close and where we'll need to count on her. That's the type of person she is. She'll go out and win."

"She'll accept the challenge: 'Give me the ball. I'm ready to go.' It's great for the team."

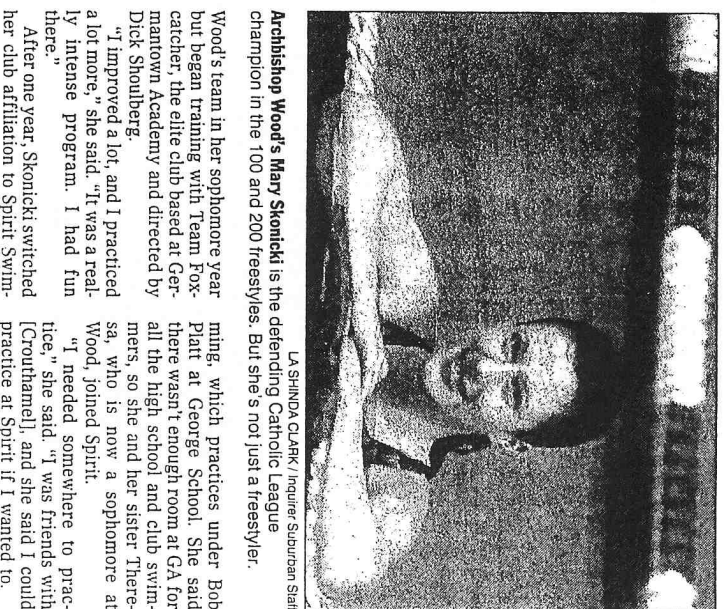

Skonicki grew up in Farmington Hills, Mich., a Detroit suburb. She began swimming at age 5 and was competing at age 6.

Her family moved to Doylestown when Skonicki was 8, and she began swimming for Fanny Chapman's swim team in the summer and for the Central Bucks Aquatic Club in the winter. She was coached by John Wilson, now coach at Pennsylvania.

"It was a really good experience," she said. "I got more serious about swimming and made a lot of new friends."

As a freshman at Wood three years ago, Skonicki was a frequent contributor for the Vikings.

"I had so much fun," she said. "It opened me up to my high school, and everybody was so friendly and accepting."

Archbishop Wood's Mary Skonicki is the defending Catholic League champion in the 100 and 200 freestyles. But she's not just a freestyler.

Wood's team in her sophomore year but began training with Team Foxcatcher, the elite club based at Germantown Academy and directed by Dick Shoulberg.

"I improved a lot, and I practiced a lot more," she said. "It was a really intense program. I had fun there."

After one year, Skonicki switched her club affiliation to Spirit Swimming.

"We didn't expect to stay, but I just loved it there. I fit in with all the people, and at the end of the season, we decided we would stay."

Skonicki rises before 5 for morning workouts and also practices on Saturdays. Although she won't hit her peak until the Eastern championships, scheduled for the last weekend in February at La Salle University, she already has reached personal bests this season of 24.72 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle, 53.56 in the 100-yard freestyle, 59.80 in the 100-yard butterfly, and 1 minute 54.78 seconds in the 200-yard freestyle.

"I'm expecting to improve," she said. "I've definitely raised my intensity. The intensity is increasing and getting to the point where I'm doing well and want to continue."

Finding a place to continue swimming won't be a problem. Skonicki is ranked ninth in her class of more than 300 and is a member of the National Honor Society and the World Language Honor Society. She is the assistant editor of the Wood yearbook. Her top college choice is Penn.

"She's very smart, very intelligent, overall just a very nice kid," Stillwell said. "She knows what she wants to do and goes after it."

Girls swim notes

ARCHBISHOP WOOD: Senior Carol Crouthamel has helped Wood climb from also-ran to contender status during her previous years with the program. Last year, Wood won all five of its Philadelphia Catholic League regular season meets, but lost in the title meet to Cardinal O'Hara by 15 points. Crouthamel is confident the Vikings can come home with the title this year. "I'm really excited," she said. "We have a really strong team. We've added some really good freshmen. Each year, we keep getting closer, and this is the year it could happen. We have the swimmers to get first places, but we need to get more of those fifths and sixths." She is the defending PCL champion in both the 500-yard freestyle and 100 breaststroke. Crouthamel's best event is the 100-yard breaststroke. She qualified for Senior Nationals in both the 100- and 200-meter breaststrokes last year, and would like to qualify again this year. She also wants to provide the kind of leadership she thinks it will take to lift the Vikings to the top of the PCL. "I try to be a role model," she said. "As a leader, I want to make sure everybody knows they are contributing. It doesn't matter how fast you swim, it's whether you go out and do your best." She recently signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Minnesota on a swimming scholarship. She also considered Michigan, Miami, Northwestern and Florida. "I loved the whole atmosphere at Minnesota," she said. "The coach and the team are great. They seem focused not only on swimming, but on academics, too. It felt like the right place to me." She plans to major in secondary education and eventually become an English teacher. After competing in the Central Bucks East Relay Carnival early in the month, Wood has yet to swim a dual meet, but has a nonleague meet with Gwynedd Mercy today.

Swimming

With its "A" lineup of Mary Skonicki, Carol Crouthamel, Shannon Seckinger, Jillian Fitzgerald and Theresa Skonicki mostly swimming unofficial races, a bunch of new Archbishop Wood names stepped to the forefront Friday in an 82-64 victory over visiting Little Flower in Philadelphia Catholic League girls swimming at Klinger Middle School.

Wood had far too much talent for Little Flower to match, so the Vikings went with a less-recognizable lineup and still got the win. The Vikings' first-place finishers included Amy Dufner in the 200-yard freestyle, Tricia Dixon in the 200-yard medley, Elizabeth Dufner in the 100 butterfly, Marianne Reuter in the 100 free and Mary Dixon in the 100 breaststroke.

In the meet's first event, though, Crouthamel, Mary Skonicki, Seckinger and Theresa Skonicki combined to place first in the 200 medley relay (2 minutes, 5.88 seconds).

Who needs to peak? It wasn't necessary for Archbishop Wood to shave and tapet before the National Catholic championships last weekend at Villanova.

The Vikings plan to sharpen for the Eastern championships during the final weekend in February and the Catholic League championships the first weekend in March, both at La Salle University.

At the National Catholic meet, however, Wood still finished third with 179 points, behind Good Council's (Md.) winning total of 247 and Notre Dame's 217. The Vikings placed in the top six in every event.

"This is always a good meet for us," coach Charlie Stillwell said.

"It's hard to explain. We kind of use it as a fun meet to get experience and have a good time.

"The kids are together all weekend. It's a relaxing meet, and there's no pressure," Stillwell said.

Wood won the 200-yard medley relay in 1 minute, 53.55 seconds, with junior Shannon Seckenger and seniors Carol Crouthamel, Mary Skonicki and Jillian Fitzgerald.

Crouthamel, who was second to Good Council's Katie Brown in the 100 breaststroke the previous three years, defeated Brown this season with a 1:07.86 clocking.

"Normally in this meet, she'll go 1:09," Stillwell said. "She felt good and cranked it out."

The 400 freestyle relay team of Fitzgerald, Crouthamel, Seckenger and Skonicki placed third in 3:42.06, and the 200 freestyle relay team of sophomores Kelly Dansbury and Theresa Skonicki and seniors Michelle Long and Nicole Torano finished sixth in 1:50.04.

Wood swimmers shine at Easterns

By Patrick O'Rourke
Sportswriter

There are not many swim teams that can approach the Easterns Interscholastic Swimming and Diving Championships as a team event. The big three of host Germantown Academy, the Peddie School and Mercersburg Academy do, of course, and sometime soon, the Archbishop Wood girls' team may be at that point as well. The Vikings placed fourth overall in last weekend's meet, well behind the trio at the top, but also well in front of the fifth-place finishers from Episcopal Academy.

That performance is a continuation of a process begun when Charlie Stillwell came aboard at Wood two years ago. He found a team with a strong sophomore class, and he has nurtured that group, which includes Mary Skonicki, Carol Crouthamel, Jillian Fitzgerald and Shannon Seckinger, who transferred in last year from Council Rock, into the core of an impressive team. The coach said his veterans rose to the occasion of their penultimate high school meet.

"For the top girls it's a really good meet because they have a level of competition they can't always get at other meets," he said. "We have somebody in the top six in almost every single event, and I think it's because they're seniors."

The seniors and the rest of the team have one more meet to look forward to — this weekend's Philadelphia Catholic League championships. Stillwell thinks the positive results from Easterns, along with an extra week of rest, will result in a memorable PCL meet.

"This is a big meet for the year where they try to make some (senior and junior national) cuts," he said. "But a lot of it carries over into our championships. A lot of time they swim just as fast or faster (at PCLs) because they have the extra week. Because they've trained so hard the extra week of rest does a lot of good."

Even limited rest seemed to suit the Vikings. Crouthamel placed fifth in the 500 and third in the breaststroke, making her junior cut in the latter. Seckinger made her junior cut in the IM, placing third, and took fourth in the backstroke. Skonicki placed fourth in the 100 freestyle, matching the junior national cut, and Fitzgerald placed ninth in the 50 freestyle.

"This meet was really important for our team," Skonicki said. "A lot of us tapered for it. I don't think our foremost concern is team points. First is individual best swims and best relays, and whatever points we get off of that will be great."

She added that she has enjoyed helping the Wood team develop from a group that approached Easterns as a bit of a lark three years ago to a back-to-back top five finisher.

"I take a lot of pride in the fact I swim at Wood," she said. "I think our team has come so far. We really all stick together and there is a lot of teamwork. Everyone just knows what they have to do, they work really really hard and it's just a great feeling to be a part of a team like that."

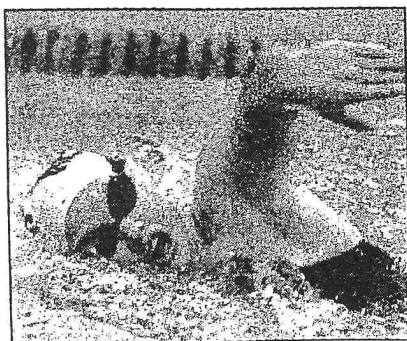

"I've had countless people that I have been very close with, that I have gone through four years with, that have graduated."

"They are all great people and it's a privilege to know them all."

Teamwork was in evidence in the relays, where the fearsome foursome combined for third place in the medley relay and fourth in the 400 freestyle relay. The 200 freestyle relay team of Michelle Long, Kelly Dansbury, Nicole Torano and Theresa Skonicki placed 19th, just missing the bonus heat. Theresa Skonicki also swam well in the butterfly.

Those finishes are as important as the others, because all of these girls will be looked on to score points at PCLs.

"It's very gratifying because I like to see what they can do, and they really rise to the level of competition they are given," Stillwell said.

Matt O'Connor placed 16th in the butterfly and 15th in the backstroke.

Notes: Warminster resident Marie Labosky, a senior at G.A. who swam for Wood as a freshman, won the 500 freestyle and the backstroke. She also swam a leg on the Patriots' national prep record tying medley relay team.

Wood girls' swimmers out to win a close one

The Vikings have been near a Catholic title the past few years, but they are pumped to make this their year.

INQUIRER SUBURBAN STAFF

Look for the Archbishop Wood girls in their tie-dyed shirts on the pool deck. Look for them out front in the pool.

After placing third in 1998 and a close second last year, the Wood girls' swim team is aiming for its first Catholic League championship since 1991.

The meet will begin tomorrow at Drexel University, with the girls' races set for 1:30 p.m. The meet will continue at La Salle University on Sunday, with finals for boys and girls at 11 a.m.

"It's going to be close," Wood senior Carol Crouthamel said. "If we have some of our girls swim our best, we'll be right up there."

Last year, the Vikings won nine of 11 events and finished second in two others but ended up right behind Cardinal O'Hara. Wood (7-1 overall, 7-0 league) beat O'Hara by four points in a dual meet last month, and the two also expect serious competition from Archbishop Ryan this weekend.

"We have a list of the top times in the league and will try to figure out who will swim what," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. "We'll put our kids in the events we think they'll do best. It's going to be really exciting. The number-one thing is to have fun."

The Vikings will be having plenty of fun. A pasta party was held at one of the swimmer's houses last night, and the team members tie-dyed shirts. They have plans to go out for dinner tonight.

"We're trying to get pumped up and be really positive," Crouthamel said.

Last weekend, the Vikings placed fourth in the Eastern championships. Senior captains Jillian Fitzgerald, Michelle Loug and Nicole Torano and fellow seniors Crouthamel and Mary Skonicki give Wood superior leadership. Junior Shannon Seckinger and sophomores Theresa Skonicki (Mary's sister) and Kelly Dansbury are also important contributors.

"It's a senior-laden team with a lot of experience and leadership," Stillwell said. "I'm amazed at how well they've been swimming all year. The kids have been there four years and have been in close races. We've had close meets every year we've swum."

Depth costs Wood a title

O'Hara's quantity surpasses quality in PCL girls swimming championships

PHILADELPHIA — Quality rather than quantity got the job done to the tune of an undefeated season.

But at Sunday's Philadelphia Catholic League Girls Swimming Championship, the Archbishop Wood girls swim team needed the quantity.

Instead, it was Cardinal O'Hara that came to the pool at La Salle University with the boatload of swimmers and left with title. Wood fell as far back as third before a late rally brought it within 24 points, 633-609, for a second consecutive second-place finish.

The Vikings' Carol Crouthamel and Shannon Sheckinger were both double winners. Mary Skonicki and Jillian Fitzgerald each took a first and a second, but close losses in the first two relays and a lack of depth doomed the Vikings to another second-place showing at the PCL's last big dance of the swim season.

"We came in and thought we had a good shot at it," said Crouthamel, who finished her high school career with PCL titles in the 500-yard freestyle and 100 breaststroke.

Wood swimmers took first in seven of 11 events. O'Hara won one — the meet's first event, the 200-yard medley relay. Wood was unbeaten in their dual meet season, beating O'Hara when the competition ran six lanes deep.

But the PCL races the top 18 qualifiers in each event. And O'Hara fields a larger team.

"O'Hara just had too much depth," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. "The odds are against us the way the scoring goes."

Reactions varied amongst the Vikings swimmers. Crouthamel and Sheckinger took the loss in stride.

"We really swam well. We swam the best we could," said Sheckinger, who touched first in the 200 individual medley and the 100 backstroke. "I didn't swim as well as last weekend, but I was still happy with my time."

Crouthamel wore an easy smile even as the point differential became insurmountable, even when midway through the meet, Archbishop Ryan briefly overtook Wood, dropping the Vikings to third.

"We never let ourselves get down for anything," she said. "We never lose sight of the having-fun part."

Others might disagree.

Skonicki sat thoughtfully in the bleachers, head in hand and staring out across the water. It was a bittersweet finale to her career, she admitted.

"I put in my best ever (time in the 200 freestyle)," she said. "It was good we won a lot of events, but we just couldn't get enough points to win. We just didn't have enough depth."

As the final scores were posted and swimmers began filtering out through the stairwell, Fitzgerald was perched in the cheap seats, crying.

"Because I'm a senior," said Fitzgerald, when asked she was crying. She managed a moral victory of sorts when she helped close out the meet's final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, with a first-place finish.

"It was nice to win," Fitzgerald said. "I was a little nervous for a while. I missed my first turn. I wanted to get a lead for everyone else."

She worried over her loss in the 50 freestyle.

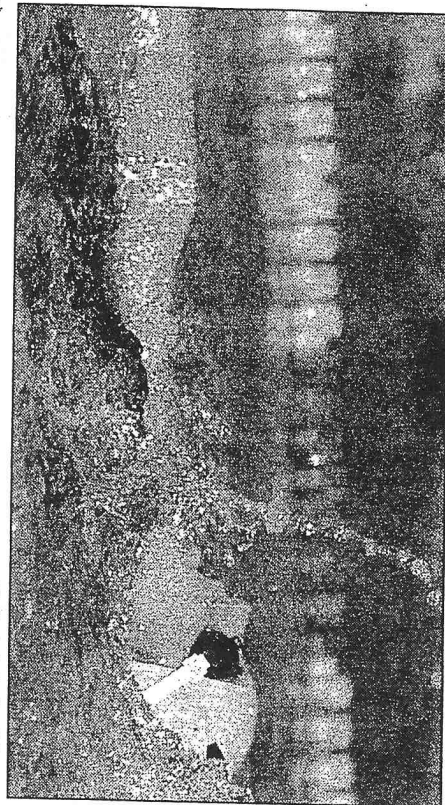

"I missed my turn," she said.

Stillwell, for one, wasn't about to pass out blame.

"I think we swam as well as we could," he said, his bright green spiked hair glowing under the lights. "It's all part of the sport. It brings everyone closer together."

"Now all I have to go is figure out how to get 50 swimmers like Ryan and O'Hara."

GIRLS SWIMMER OF THE YEAR

Carol Crouthamel

Archbishop Wood senior rules the pool

WARMINSTER — Carol Crouthamel finished her high school swim career with a bang.

Crouthamel, a senior at Archbishop Wood, won the 500-yard freestyle and 100 breaststroke at the Philadelphia Catholic League championships.

She also won the 100 breaststroke and took third in the 500 freestyle at the National Catholic championships and was third in the 100 breaststroke and fifth in the 500 freestyle at the Eastern Interscholastic meet.

For these accomplishments, she is the Courier Times Girls Swimmer of the Year. She is the second Wood swimmer to earn the honor: Katie Murphy was the first, winning in 1986.

"Overall, I think I had a good season," she said. "I didn't do what I wanted at Easterns, but that happens. I had a good time at the Catholic Nationals, but the Catholic League championship was more fun because more of our team was there.

"As a team we were a little disappointed by not winning the Catholic League. We went in with hopes of winning because we were undefeated in the regular season, but we knew Cardinal O'Hara would be tough and they had a little too much for us.

"I'm still happy with second. We gave it our all and we had so much fun this year. I really enjoyed high school swimming. Our team was a great bunch."

Crouthamel leaves Wood with the school record in the 500 freestyle (5:02.18, 1999) and the 100 breaststroke (1:05.42, 1998, also the PCL record). She was a member of two record-setting relays in the 200 medley relay (1:50.42, 2000) and the 400 freestyle relay (3:39.27, 2000). Both are PCL records.

She holds the Wood freshman record for the breaststroke (1:07.21, 1997) and has top-10 team times in six events.

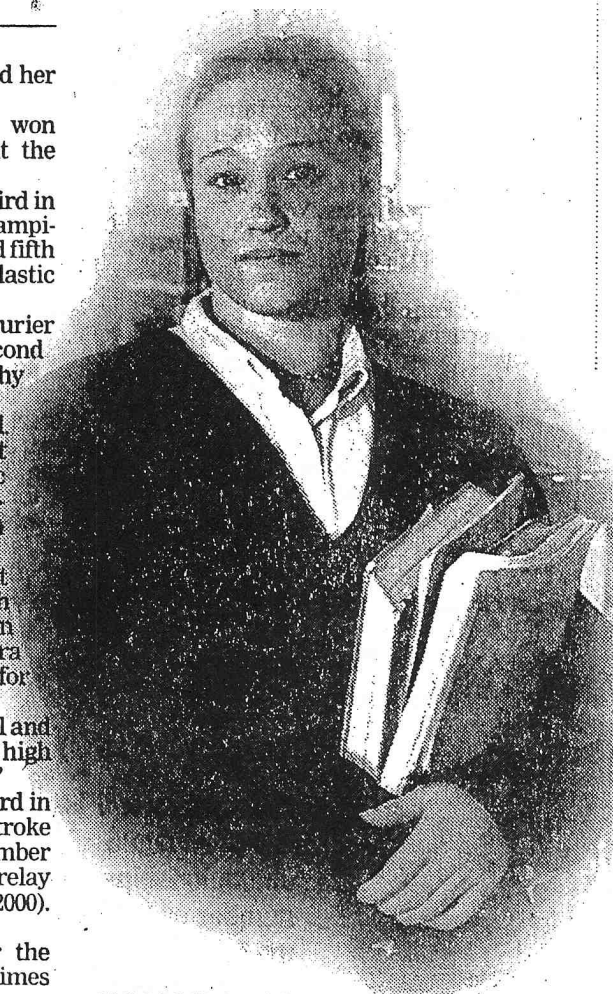

Crouthamel has a very exciting summer planned. She will compete in the 200 breaststroke at the Olympic trials in August in Indianapolis.

"I'm looking forward to that," she said. "I'd also like to make it in the 100 breaststroke."

Although she has been swimming since 5, Crouthamel did not begin taking the sport seriously until seventh grade.

"I just figured if I worked at it, I might be pretty good," she said. "I signed up at Spirit Swimming, and I've been there ever since. It's a great coaching staff, especially Bob (Platt). They make me love swimming."

She will continue her swim career in the fall at the University of Minnesota. She would like to be a high school English teacher.

Wood's Crouthamel hoping to make this a winter to remember

By Jeff Saukaitis - Intelligencer Assistant Sports Editor

Carol Crouthamel is hoping to make this a winter to remember at Archbishop Wood. The Vikings' most versatile swimmer, Crouthamel has helped Wood climb from also-ran to contender status during her previous years with the program. Last year, Wood won all five of its Philadelphia Catholic League regular-season dual meets. The Vikings, however, came up just shy of their first PCL team championship since 1991. They lost in the title meet by 15 points to Cardinal O'Hara. O'Hara's superior depth was the deciding factor. Few could argue that Wood possessed more individual talent. The Vikings won nine events, while O'Hara didn't finish first in any. Wood welcomes back most of its top-notch swimmers this year; Crouthamel, Jillian Fitzgerald, Shannon Seckinger and Mary Skonicki will likely make many visits to the medal stand again at this season's PCL championships. It's going to take higher-quality depth, though, to help the Vikings climb that final step and come home with the title, and Crouthamel is confident the Vikings have added that ingredient. "I'm really excited," she said. "We have a really strong team. We've added some really good freshmen. Each year, we keep getting closer, and this is the year it could happen. "We have the swimmers to get first places, but we need to get more of those fifths and sixths." Wood hasn't competed in a dual meet yet —Dec. 23 against Gwynedd-Mercy is the first non-league dual meet on the schedule —so it's difficult to say how much of an impact the Vikings' nine freshmen will have this season. Wood also added a senior, Brynn Bailey, who is back on the team for the first time since ninth grade. She'll try to add depth in the sprint freestyles and breaststroke. The breaststroke is also Crouthamel's best event, although she is proficient in all strokes. She qualified for Senior Nationals in the 100- and 200-meter breaststroke events last year, so she hopes to qualify again during her club season with Newtown-based Spirit Swimming. During her season with Wood, Crouthamel wants to continue her personal success and provide the kind of leadership she thinks it will take to lift the Vikings to the top of the PCL. "I try to be a role model," Crouthamel said. "As a leader, I want to make sure everybody knows they are contributing. It doesn't matter how fast you swim, it's whether you go out and do your best." Crouthamel recently removed some pressure from herself when she signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Minnesota on a swimming scholarship. Three months ago, Crouthamel was considering five schools: Minnesota, Michigan, Miami, Northwestern and Florida. She then narrowed it to Minnesota, Michigan and Miami before finally settling on Minnesota last month. "I loved the whole atmosphere at Minnesota," said Crouthamel, who wants to major in secondary education and eventually become an English teacher. "The coach and the team are great. They seem focused not only on swimming, but on academics, too. It felt like the right place for me."

Archbishop Wood's Fitzgerald focuses on mining freestyle gold

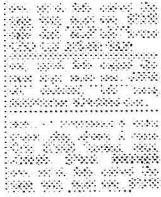

By Ira Josephs - Inquirer Suburban Staff

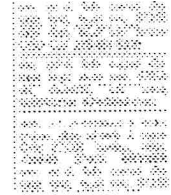

What Jillian Fitzgerald lacks in endurance, she makes up in perseverance. The Archbishop Wood senior has swum the 50-yard freestyle three times in the Catholic League championships. She finished third as a freshman and second as both a sophomore and a junior. There's no secret surrounding her goal this season. Fitzgerald wants the gold. "I would really like to win it this season," she said. Wood coach Charlie Stillwell would like to see Fitzgerald win it. "I can tell by her work ethic she is really going to do well," Stillwell said. "I know she is looking to be first in the league. She's on a mission to improve her times." Fitzgerald owns a best of 25.1 seconds in the 50 freestyle, but she can also swim the butterfly and the breaststroke. In the Vikings' first two meets - the Central Bucks East Relay Carnival two weeks ago and Saturday's North-South Relays at St. Joseph's University - Fitzgerald swam backstroke and butterfly legs. When it's time to get serious, she will concentrate on the 50 freestyle. "It's just an all-out sprint," Fitzgerald said. "You just go. I have speed, but not much endurance." But endurance is an area in which Fitzgerald is improving. "We're actually doing more yardage this year," she said. "That has helped me a lot." Fitzgerald is a tricapitain with seniors Michelle Long and Nicole Torano on a team that finished second to Cardinal O'Hara in the league championships last season. "She leads by example," Stillwell said. "She organizes pasta parties. It's nice to see her grow and get to know everybody."

Wood swim star is achieving the success that she envisions

By Ira Josephs - Inquirer Suburban Staff

Mary Skonicki isn't daydreaming, she's visualizing. While the Archbishop Wood senior may be staring blankly as she waits at a traffic light, her arms and legs are splashing through imaginary water. She sees each race before she swims it, and the result usually is favorable in her mind and in the pool. Before big meets, I'll start two weeks in advance visualizing races," she said. "When you visualize, it makes it so much easier. "Usually, it will be before I go to bed. But I'll visualize when I'm driving. I'll pay attention to the road, but my mind is occupied." Both Skonicki's driving and swimming records are stellar. As a junior last year, she won the 100-yard and 200-yard freestyle races in the Catholic League championships and also swam on Wood's victorious 200-yard and 400-yard freestyle relay teams. As a sophomore, she had won league titles in the 100 freestyle and the 100 backstroke and had swum on the winning 200 freestyle and 200 medley relay teams. Don't suggest that Skonicki is a freestyle specialist who just dabbles in other strokes. She is a threat in freestyle, backstroke, and butterfly. She has gone under a minute in the 100-yard butterfly. "I'd say I'm a freestyler first, then the backstroke, and then the butterfly," she said. "They're all pretty close. It changes every year. One year it's the backstroke, and another year it's the freestyle or the butterfly. I'll do anything. It's always been that way." Skonicki would even swim the breaststroke, if she were asked. That's not likely, though. The Vikings have Carol Crouthamel, a senior who has qualified for the U.S. Olympic trials in the 200-meter breaststroke. "That's all for her," Skonicki joked. "She can take it." Wood coach Charlie Stillwell says he is fortunate to have Skonicki and Crouthamel as part of talented and tenacious senior class. "The group of seniors I have is killer," Stillwell said. "We'll never have another class like this. It's going to be sad when they go."

Though Crouthamel has reached the highest level of any of the Vikings, Skonicki may be the team's best all-around swimmer. "She is one of a kind," Stillwell said. "She is just so good at anything, and you can put her anywhere. She excels at so much that sometimes she goes unnoticed. "I'll put her in events that will be real close and where we'll need to count on her. That's the type of person she is. She'll go out and win. "She'll accept the challenge: 'Give me the ball. I'm ready to go.' It's great for the team."

Skonicki grew up in Farmington Hills, Mich., a Detroit suburb. She began swimming at age 5 and was competing at age 6. Her family moved to Doylestown when Skonicki was 8, and she began swimming for Fanny Chapman's swim team in the summer and for the Central Bucks Aquatic Club in the winter. She was coached by John Wilson, now coach at Pennsbury. "It was a really good experience," she said. "I got more serious about swimming and made a lot of new friends." As a freshman at Wood three years ago, Skonicki was a frequent contributor for the Vikings. "I had so much fun," she said. "It opened me up to my high school, and everybody was so friendly and accepting." Skonicki remained a member of Wood's team in her sophomore year but began training with Team Foxcatcher, the elite club based at Germantown Academy and directed by Dick Shoulberg. "I improved a lot, and I practiced a lot more," she said. "It was a really intense program. I had fun there." After one year, Skonicki switched her club affiliation to Spirit Swimming, which practices under Bob Platt at George School. She said there wasn't enough room at GA for all the high school and club swimmers, so she and her sister Theresa, who is now a sophomore at Wood, joined Spirit. "I needed somewhere to practice," she said. "I was friends with [Crouthamel], and she said I could practice at Spirit if I wanted to. "We didn't expect to stay, but I just loved it there. I fit in with all the people, and at the end of the season, we decided we would stay."

Skonicki rises before 5 for morning workouts and also practices on Saturdays. Although she won't hit her peak until the Eastern championships, scheduled for the last weekend in February at La Salle University, she already has reached personal bests this season of 24.72 seconds in the 50-yard freestyle, 53.56 in the 100-yard freestyle, 59.80 in the 100-yard butterfly, and 1 minute, 54.78 seconds in the 200-yard freestyle. "I'm expecting to improve," she said. "I've definitely raised my intensity. The intensity is increasing and getting to the point where I'm doing well and want to continue." Finding a place to continue swimming won't be a problem. Skonicki is ranked ninth in her class of more than 300 and is a member of the National Honor Society and the World Language Honor Society. She is the assistant editor of the Wood yearbook. Her top college choice is Penn. "She's very smart, very intelligent, overall just a very nice kid," Stillwell said. "She knows what she wants to do and goes after it."

Off-season work pays off for Wood's MacKenzie

By Jeff Saukaitis - Intelligencer Assistant Sports Editor

Matt MacKenzie is enjoying his finest swimming season ever at Archbishop Wood. His best times in the 50- and 100-yard freestyles this winter have already surpassed his efforts at last year's Philadelphia Catholic League championship meet.

MacKenzie's improvement, however, has much less to do with what he has done this winter than what he did during the fall. A former cross country runner at Wood, MacKenzie decided he possessed his best athletic potential in swimming. To realize that potential, though, he figured it would help to start swimming year-round. So MacKenzie enrolled into NRG, a Bucks County-based United States Swimming club, and has reaped the benefits during the high school campaign. In Wood's first three dual meets, MacKenzie never failed to place first in the 50 and 100 freestyles. "It helped a lot to start swimming year-round, because I was able to start out the season in shape," MacKenzie said. "When you swim year-round, you don't have to go through that period of the season where you're just working to get into shape." (Wood coach Charlie Stillwell's) influence had a lot to do with it. He said it would be good to swim year-round, and it's helped me out". "He did a lot of off-season training this year," Stillwell said, "and I think he realized what kind of potential he had. "We've been working on his strokes every year, and he's gotten progressively better. His first year, he was swimming with his legs crossed; he had a big, old fishtail. Now his hard work is really paying off. He's a lot stronger. "If he realizes his potential and keeps working, I see no reason why he can't make All-Catholic this year." To earn All-PCL honors, a swimmer must finish among the top six in an individual event. At last year's PCL title meet, MacKenzie placed 16th in the 100 free (53.26 seconds) and 20th in the 50 free (24.33). In each of Wood's three dual meets, MacKenzie has bettered those times. His top performances have been a 52.04 in the 100 free against St. Joseph's Prep and a 23.53 in the 50 free against Father Judge. His 50 free time is tied for second-best in the PCL (Archbishop Ryan's Rob Querdi is first with a 23.16), and his 100 free time is third-best in the league (Bill Marcum of Cardinal O'Hara is first at 49.69). "I'm hoping to break 50 (seconds) in the 100 free," MacKenzie said. "In the 50 free, I'm hoping to get to a low 23 or high 22. "I've talked about my goals with Charlie. I think if I can get down to a 51 before I shave and taper for the PCL meet, I could have a good chance to get top six," MacKenzie said. "In the 50 free, I'm not so sure." Stillwell said the 50 free may ultimately prove to be a stronger event for MacKenzie, but it isn't as strong as the 100 right now because the senior's chief weakness is his difficulty getting off the starting block. "He doesn't get off the block as well as most sprinters do," Stillwell said. "In the 100, he can usually overcome that." MacKenzie spends a good portion of his practice time working on starts and turns. He's having quite a bit more fun at practice this season, thanks to Wood's overall team improvement. The Vikings are 1-2 after last week's win over Ryan. "We're greatly improved," MacKenzie said. "We're looking at winning two league meets this year. I know that doesn't sound like much, but we only won two meets total in my first three years combined." That improvement is a tribute to the hard work of veteran swimmers like MacKenzie, who has pushed himself to new heights.

Wood girls' swimmers out to win a close one.

The Vikings have been near a Catholic title the past few years, but they are pumped to make this their year.

By Ira Josephs - Inquirer Suburban Staff

Look for the Archbishop Wood girls in their tie-dyed shirts on the pool deck. Look for them out front in the pool. After placing third in 1998 and a close second last year, the Wood girls' swim team is aiming for its first Catholic League championship since 1991. The meet will begin tomorrow at Drexel University, with the girls' races set for 1:30 p.m. The meet will continue at La Salle University on Sunday, with finals for boys and girls at 11 a.m. "It's going to be close," Wood senior Carol Crouthamel said. "If we have some of our girls swim our best, we'll be right up there." Last year, the Vikings won nine of 11 events and finished second in two others but ended up right behind Cardinal O'Hara. Wood (7-1 overall, 7-0 league) beat O'Hara by four points in a dual meet last month, and the two also expect serious competition from Archbishop Ryan this weekend. "We have a list of the top times in the league and will try to figure out who will swim what," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. "We'll put our kids in the events we think they'll do best. It's going to be really exciting. The number-one thing is to have fun." The Vikings will be having plenty of fun. A pasta party was held at one of the swimmer's houses last night, and the team members tie-dyed shirts. They have plans to go out for dinner tonight. "We're trying to get pumped up and be really positive," Crouthamel said. Last weekend, the Vikings placed fourth in the Eastern championships. Senior captains Jillian Fitzgerald, Michelle Long and Nicole Torano and fellow seniors Crouthamel and Mary Skonicki give Wood superior leadership. Junior Shannon Seckinger and sophomores Theresa Skonicki (Mary's sister) and Kelly Dansbury are also important contributors. "It's a senior-laden team with a lot of experience and leadership," Stillwell said. "I'm amazed at how well they've been swimming all year. The kids have been there four years and have been in close races. We've had close meets every year we've swum."

Quantity betters quality as wood finishes second in PCL meet

By Graham Strouse - Intelligencer Staff Writer

Quality rather than quantity got the job done to the tune of an undefeated season. But at Sunday's Philadelphia Catholic League Girls Swimming Championship, the Archbishop Wood girls swim team needed the quantity. Instead, it was Cardinal O'Hara that came to the pool at La Salle University with the boatload of swimmers and left with title. Wood fell as far back as third before a late rally brought it within 24 points, 633-609, for a second consecutive second-place finish. The Vikings' Carol Crouthamel and Shannon Sheckinger were both double winners. Mary Skonicki and Jillian Fitzgerald each took a first and a second, but close losses in the first two relays and a lack of depth doomed the Vikings to another second-place showing at the PCL's last big dance of the swim season. "We came in and thought we had a good shot at it," said Crouthamel, who finished her high school career with PCL titles in the 500-yard freestyle and 100 breaststroke. Wood swimmers took first in seven of 11 events. O'Hara won one—the meet's first event, the 200-yard medley relay. Wood was unbeaten in their dual meet season, beating O'Hara when the competition ran six lanes deep. But the PCL races the top 18 qualifiers in each event. And O'Hara fields a larger team. "O'Hara just had too much depth," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. "The odds are against us the way the scoring goes." Reactions varied amongst the Vikings swimmers. Crouthamel and Sheckinger took the loss in stride. "We really swam well. We swam the best we could," said Sheckinger, who touched first in the 200 individual medley and the 100 backstroke. "I didn't swim as well as last weekend, but I was still happy with my time." Crouthamel wore an easy smile even as the point differential became insurmountable, even when midway through the meet, Archbishop Ryan briefly overtook Wood, dropping the Vikings to third. "We never let ourselves get down for anything," she said. "We never lose sight of the having-fun part." Others might disagree. Skonicki sat thoughtfully in the bleachers, head in hand and staring out across the water. It was a bittersweet finale to her career, she admitted. "I put in my best ever (time in the 200 freestyle)," she said. "It was good we won a lot of events, but we just couldn't get enough points to win. We just didn't have enough depth." As the final scores were posted and swimmers began filtering out through the stairwell, Fitzgerald was perched in the cheap seats, crying. "Because I'm a senior," said Fitzgerald, when asked she was crying. She managed a moral victory of sorts when she helped close out the meet's final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, with a first-place finish. "It was nice to win," Fitzgerald said. "I was a little nervous for a while. I missed my first turn. I wanted to get a lead for everyone else." She worried over her loss in the 50 freestyle. "I missed my turn," she said. Stillwell, for one, wasn't about to pass out blame. "I think we swam as well as we could," he said, his bright green spiked hair glowing under the lights. "It's all part of the sport. It brings everyone closer together. "Now all I have to go is figure out how to get 50 swimmers like Ryan and O'Hara."

La Salle earns PCL boys title

By Graham Strouse - Intelligencer Staff Writer

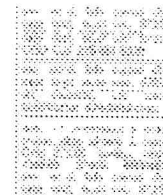

The message scrawled on the front of Archbishop Wood's Thomas Keiser's tie-dyed T-shirt pretty much summed it up Sunday afternoon. Scrawled in black on the yellow and green T-shirt in big bold letters, the words read: "You're in the Matrix." "There is no water," said Keiser with a smirk, mimicking a line uttered by Keanu Reeves in the movie "The Matrix." But this was no sci-fi flick. This was just another day in the pool for La Salle's swim team, and for the 12th straight year the Explorers parted the water perfectly. The Explorers made it a dozen consecutive titles by nearly doubling their closest pursuer, Monsignor Bonner, collecting 850 points en route to winning the Philadelphia Catholic League Boys Swimming Championship. Bonner had 471 points, while Archbishop Wood was sixth with 184. La Salle teammates Brad Green, Jeff Paul, Mike Harrigan, and Rob Queroli took turns beating each other as La Salle wrapped up wins in four individual events and all three relays. Green took the 200-yard freestyle and finished second to Queroli in the 100 backstroke. Queroli finished second in the 50 free to St. Joseph Prep's Terrence Fenningham, the meet's only individual double winner (50 free and 100 butterfly). Harrigan won the 500 free and added a second win in the 100 butterfly, and Paul took the 100 free and finished third in the 50 free. The meet was never in doubt. For most of it, the Explorers' bench was relaxed. After a regular season of dominance, this was merely their victory lap. "The comp's not as good as at Eastern's," said Green, a senior. "A lot of times it's nice to be able to come out and have a good time. It's good to win. It's good to be at the end of it." "We're always proud to win league," said La Salle coach Frank Lichtner. "We've had a great year. We had our best Eastern (Regionals) against the best competition. We're always proud to win the league. It's our 12th straight year, which says something about our program." As for Wood, it too had reason to celebrate. The Vikings ended in sixth, placing all three relays in the top six while receiving excellent performances from senior Matt McKenzie (seventh in the 100 freestyle) and sophomore Matt O'Conner (fifth in the 100 backstroke, sixth in the 100 butterfly). Keiser, a promising sophomore, finished 15th in the breaststroke. "I was very proud of my team," said Wood coach Charlie Stillwell, who showed up at poolside with his hair spiked and dyed in Viking green. "I lose a lot of good seniors. I lose a lot of good swimmers, and I still have a great group." Stillwell has a number of talented freshmen returning. "It was a great way to go out," Stillwell said. As for Lichtner, he isn't too worried about the Explorers' future. "We're gonna be fine next year," he said. Again.

La Salle, O'Hara win swim titles

The Catholic League crown was the Explorers' 12th in a row. The Lions held off the Wood girls yet again.

By Bill Iezzi - Inquirer Suburban Staff

A tired but game La Salle boys' team won its 12th consecutive Catholic League swimming championship at La Salle University yesterday. The Cardinal O'Hara girls won their third straight league title in the same pool, holding off Archbishop Wood for the second time in the last two years. On the heels of a draining national prep-school meet at La Salle University the preceding weekend, the Explorers still outclassed the field by winning six of 11 events and scoring 850 points. Monsignor Bonner finished with 471 points, and O'Hara was third with 379. "We're a little tired, but we look at [the league meet] as our last hurrah," said La Salle senior captain Mike Harrigan after he won the 500-yard freestyle in 4 minutes, 56.64 seconds. For the second straight year, Wood's girls entered the meet with a potential point advantage over O'Hara, whom the Vikings had defeated during the regular season. However, Wood could not put away the Lions, who tallied 633 points to the Vikings' 609. "Absolutely, we're disappointed that we didn't win," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. Wood won eight of 11 events, but O'Hara displayed greater depth in capturing the second through sixth places. "The upperclassmen did the job and made the difference," O'Hara coach Kevin Speicher said. O'Hara's Jen Birkenmeier, Samantha White, Kim Myers, and Lauren Conaboy provided their team with its only win by clocking 1:55.49 in the 200 medley relay.
