Coach: Charlie Stillwell (eighth year)

Last year's record: 2-6

Swimmers to watch: Jr. Billy Langlois (butterfly, IM); Sr. Jarrett Kealey (backstroke, IM); Soph. Tom Whalen (breaststroke, freestyle)

The season: Stillwell is predicting a strong season, with many of his swimmers coming back in excellent shape for their second year. A few freshmen who have a background in swimming are expected to make impacts. "We're just looking to improve off last year," Stillwell said. "The combination of returning swimmers with some new freshman will be good for us."

Coach: Charlie Stillwell (eighth year)

Last year's record: 5-4, fourth place PCL

Swimmers to watch: Sr. Lisa Whitlock (butterfly), Sr. Jill Brennecke (distance freestyle), Fr. Jackie Smith (backstroke, individual medley)

The season: Depth should be greatly improved this season because of three good size classes. More swimmers means more points for a team that coach Charlie Stillwell feels could finish as high as second in the PCL.

The way the Philadelphia Catholic League schedule is set up, the only way Archbishop Wood would not open the regular season against league power La Salle would be by finishing first or second in the standings. This year, the Vikings might be close to that level.

With a large turnout, Wood has depth it has not been able to count on in recent years. After losing to La Salle in its first meet, Wood topped Bensalem in a non-conference meet.

"We have 18 boys out, and most of them have some swim club experience coming in," said Wood coach Charlie Stillwell. "The last couple of years, we've only had two or three wins, but I think we definitely have a shot at going .500 this year. We should win a minimum of four (meets), and we have an outside shot at six."

The Vikings' top returning swimmer, junior Billy Langlois, was under the weather against Bensalem, but still able to win the 100 butterfly and 200 freestyle.

"He actually did pretty good, considering he had been sick," said Stillwell of Langlois. "He's doing club swimming for the first time in the winter, and, after a club meet, he got pretty sick. But he has been doing pretty well even with being sick."

The big surprise so far in the young season for Wood has been sophomore Tom Whelan. He won the 100 breaststroke against La Salle with a time of 1:07.0 and cruised to a victory against Bensalem in that event as well.

Prowess in the breaststroke runs in the family, as Tom's brother, Kevin Whelan, won the breaststroke at the PCL championships last spring and now competes for La Salle University.

"The best Tom had done last year was a 1:08, so for him to do a 1:07 now was great," Stillwell said. "He also knew that his brother didn't do a 1:07 until the end of his sophomore year. He's working hard and has a chance to make the finals at the (PCL) championships."

Kealey puts on balancing act at Wood

By KAREN SANGILLO
COURIER TIMES

WARMINSTER — Jarrett Kealey knows how to handle hot situations.

When the Archbishop Wood senior isn't at school or swimming, he can be found doing his work as a volunteer firefighter for the Northampton Fire Company.

"I can't go into burning buildings because I'm not 18 yet, but I can ride out on emergency calls," said Kealey, who turns 18 on Feb. 25. "Usually, I end up working at the hydrant, which is still a pretty important job because you're supplying water to the firefighters."

He has his national firefighter certification.

"It's not what I want to do as a career," he said. "It's just something I was always interested in."

In addition to his work as a firefighter, he is involved with the youth group at his church, Our Lady of Good Counsel. Last year he traveled with the group to Appalachia as part of a service project.

Kealey was also a member of the cross country team at Wood.

"We had a really strong program, and that was something I wanted to be a part of, but I'm looking forward to college because I'll be able to focus on swimming as my only sport, and my studies, of course," he said. "It's hard to balance it all and looking back, I wish I'd put more into swimming, but I still have a chance to do that at college."

His top choice is Canisius, in Buffalo.

"It's Division I, but this is the first year they've had a swim team, so it's really a start-up program," he said. "I want a situation where I'm not overwhelmed, but where I still have good competition, and Canisius is just that."

He also is considering Washington & Jefferson, Marymount and Franklin & Marshall. He hopes to major in political science with a future career goal of law or politics.

"It's something I've become interested in in the past few years," he said.

He still has the rest of the swim season in front of him.

"I'm very optimistic," he said. "Personally, I would love to make all-Catholic in the backstroke, and looking at last year's times, it's a possibility."

"Because I ran cross country and a lot of the top swimmers swim year-round, I'm playing catch-up. There's some other X factors, like what events other kids choose to swim, but I can't control what other people do, and I can't worry about them. I can only concentrate on my own swimming, and I think I can do it."

Kealey had leader written all over him from the first time he stepped onto the pool deck as a freshman.

"Our boys team never shaved their heads for the big meets, the way most teams do," Wood coach Charlie Stillwell said. "A few of them would dye their hair for big meets, but nobody shaved. Then, when Jarrett was a freshman, he said, 'Come on, we're doing it,' and about five or six of them shaved their heads for the league championship."

"It's rare that a freshman can come onto a team and have that kind of influence on the others, but he really did. He was a team captain last year, and that's the first time I've ever had a captain who wasn't a senior."

Every coach knows how rewarding it is to watch a girl blossom into a talented and valuable competitor after starting the season as a virtual unknown.

Archbishop Wood freshman Nicole Lydon began preseason swimming 50 yards and mastering all the strokes. But it was the butterfly where she caught the eye of coach Charlie Stillwell.

"I remember when I went up to her and told her I wanted her to do the 100 fly, and she just looked at me," Stillwell said. "She told me, 'Oh I can't make a hundred,' so I talked to her about it because I wanted her to know it was coming. The first time she ever tried it, she did a 1:11. I was shocked, and she couldn't believe it."

Stillwell called Lydon a natural with a very nice stroke. He also offered her an incentive to get her to work harder at the fly.

"She's actually a pretty good distance freestyler," the coach said. "So, I said if she keeps getting better at the butterfly, I won't put her in the 500. It's apparently working. She's already dropped her time to a 1:09. This girl is just loaded with potential."

Double dipping

Five of the nine area swim coaches run both the boys' and girls' programs.

By KAREN SANGILLO
COURIER TIMES

It's a sign of the times. As qualified applicants become scarcer, more area high schools are opting to have one head coach for both boys and girls swimming.

Of the nine area schools which have both a boys and girls team, five now have one person in charge of both programs. Archbishop Wood, George School, Neshaminy, Pennsylvania and William Tennent all have one head coach.

Neshaminy athletic director Sheila Murphy hired veteran girls coach Brian Suter to take over the boys team this year. "We had no other applicants for the job," Murphy said. "In certain areas, it's become increasingly difficult to find qualified people. Swimming is one of those areas because we want a coach with a WSI (water safety instructor) certificate, and not everyone has that."

"Also, I think it's very hard for people who are not in education to find the time to coach. This will be a great demand of time for Brian, but he is very enthusiastic and he has already mapped out his plan. I feel he is up to the job."

Lisa Forlini at William Tennent is the dean of the double-duty swim coaches. She is in her 14th year as the girls head coach and her 11th year guiding the boys.

"When Bob Roman (the previous boys coach) left, I interviewed for the position along with some other people," said Forlini, who also runs the Centennial Aquatics program along with her husband, Jamie.

"At that time, there were not a lot of men coaching boys teams but Mike Devitt, our athletic director at the time, was very open-minded. He was willing to give it a try.

"I think it's a more effective way to run a program because there's less overlapping of time. Also, when you have two teams with two different coaches, the kids tend to compare notes and want to know why this kid is doing one thing when they're doing another. There's more continuity when you have one person in charge."

Pennsbury coach John Wilson also did not start coaching both teams at the same time. He is in his 10th year with the girls and ninth with the boys.

"One of the keys is to have good assistants," he said. "I've been blessed along the way with good ones, and that continues to this day."

"It's a lot of work, but I like being in control of both and I really like the team unity it creates. We have a lot of double dual meets and the kids really cheer for each other. It's a total team. When we have single meets, the team just seems a little flat."

Charlie Stillwell took both programs over at Archbishop Wood at the same time, seven years ago. He replaced another double-duty coach, Joe McChes.

"It works out, for the most part," he said. "It's great if the girls make the boys swim harder but if the boys swim down to the girls, it's a problem. As long as the boys work hard, it's OK."

"Our kids have been doing it for so long that it's no big deal, and it's actually a lot of fun."

At George School, Sue Schmeltz has been the girls swim coach for 14 seasons, but is in her fifth as the boys coach. She took over that team when Tom Rogers could no longer work in coaching with his hectic schedule as the George School database administrator.

"We always had practice together and we always worked together, so it wasn't a big change," Schmeltz said. "We have an eight lane pool, so we have more room than most schools."

"I like it this way. We have some co-ed meets, so it's good for them to swim together and I think the girls make the boys work harder. No boy likes to be in a lane with a girl and have her swim faster than him."

For Neshaminy, this year will be a big adjustment. The boys will say goodbye to the pool at Neshaminy Middle School and move in with the girls at Piquessing.

"I couldn't be running from pool to pool," Suter said. "That was just too much. I know this will be a lot of work, but I'm really looking forward to it and I'm excited about getting this opportunity."

For these coaches, single meets have been replaced for the most part by double duals, in which the girls and boys take turns swimming events.

"I love double duals," Lindsey Marck of Pennsylvania said. "We cheer for the guys and they cheer for us. I guess I'm just used to it, but I can't imagine having separate meets all the time. I know they're longer, time-wise, but when you're a part of it, it's just so much fun."

La Salle has been the dominant team in the Philadelphia Catholic League for years, thanks to its tremendous depth. This year, Archbishop Wood has more depth than usual and has a top swimmer in Billy Langlois, so the Vikings might be making some noise in the PCL this year.

SWIMMING NOTES

Wood hopes to fare well in PCL meet

By KAREN SANGILLO
COURIER TIMES

Archbishop Wood's Charlie Stillwell says his boys and girls swim teams are the best he's had in awhile.

Just how far they'll go remains to be seen when the Philadelphia Catholic League boys and girls championships are held this weekend.

"They've worked really hard and dropped their times since the beginning of the season," said Stillwell, who heads both teams. "Actually, we have some excellent relays. I think we have a shot for them to all do well."

The trials are scheduled for Widener University on Saturday, with the boys beginning at 8 a.m., and the girls at 1 p.m. The championships will be Sunday at La Salle University at 10:30 a.m.

According to Stillwell, the team does not have numbers, but the depth has increased since last year.

"My middle kids really came up," he said. "This year I had a really good freshman class, a good sophomore class from last year and a really good senior class. This is the first year I've had three really good classes with the girls and they've stepped up when I needed them to."

"In the big meets, when I've told them to, they really swam hard. I'm really looking forward to seeing what we can do."

Archbishop Ryan is the defending girls champion while La Salle, fresh from victory at the Eastern Interscholastic Swimming and Diving competition, is the defending boys titlist.

The way the Philadelphia Catholic League schedule is set up, the only way Archbishop Wood would not open the regular season against league power La Salle would be by finishing first or second in the standings. This year, the Vikings might be close to that level.

With a large turnout, Wood has depth it has not been able to count on in recent years. After losing to La Salle in its first meet, Wood topped Bensalem in a non-conference meet.

"We have 18 boys out, and most of them have some swim club experience coming in," said Wood coach Charlie Stillwell. "The last couple of years, we've only had two or three wins, but I think we definitely have a shot at going .500 this year. We should win a minimum of four (meets), and we have an outside shot at six."

The Vikings' top returning swimmer, junior Billy Langlois, was under the weather against Bensalem, but still able to win the 100 butterfly and 200 freestyle.

"He actually did pretty good, considering he had been sick," said Stilwell of Langlois. "He's doing club swimming for the first time in the winter, and, after a club meet, he got pretty sick. But he has been doing pretty well even with being sick."

The big surprise so far in the young season for Wood has been sophomore Tom Whelan. He won the 100 breaststroke against La Salle with a time of 1:07.0 and cruised to a victory against Bensalem in that event as well.

Prowess in the breaststroke runs in the family, as Tom's brother, Kevin Whelan, won the breaststroke at the PCL championships last spring and now competes for La Salle University.

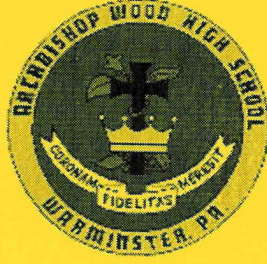

"The best Tom had done last year was a 1:08, so for him to do a 1:07 now was great," Stillwell said. "He also knew that his brother didn't do a 1:07 until the end of his sophomore year. He's working hard and has a chance to make the finals at the (PCL) championships."

Daly finds coming home to be most rewarding

Until he reached college, Brian Daly had never been at a school that had a pool, but it did not hinder him from beating a lot of swimmers who could walk right from their classroom to the water. Daly holds four school records at Archbishop Wood, even though he last swam a stroke for the Vikings 14 years ago, and still holds the Philadelphia Catholic League record in the 100 backstroke (52.47). He went on to compete for Purdue and made the 1992 Olympic trials in two events. And Daly did all this without having a home pool to call his own. "I lived in Chalfont, so I kind of was in the middle of everything," said Daly, a 1989 Wood graduate. "I think I got the benefit of all of them." Daly began as a kid at the Hatfield Swim Club, but by the time he left high school he had also competed for Central Bucks, Germantown Academy Aquatic Club, North Penn Aquatic Club, Fanny Chapman and Lenape Valley, where he credits Scott Strong for helping him a lot. The only place Daly did not swim was his school, St. Jude's grade school, which did not have a swim team. Most of St. Jude's graduates moved on to Lansdale Catholic, but Daly chose Wood. "I actually went to Wood more to be a runner," said Daly. "My first year on cross country there, I got sick in a race and never went out again." Wood did not have a pool, but it did have a swim team, practicing at Klinger Middle School under coach Doug Burns. St. Joe's Prep and La Salle were the dominant teams then. "We held our own," said Daly. "The PCL was the big meet but we also got to compete in the National Catholic Championships and the Eastern championships. I got to gain some experience going against the nation's elite." His senior year, Daly won the PCL title in the 100 backstroke and the 100 and 200 freestyles and placed second in the 500 freestyle. All his times in those races are still records at Wood. In what would turn out to be a bit ironic, considering where he is now, then-North Penn coach Rick Carroll recommended Daly to Purdue and he was soon off to West Lafayette, Ind. Daly won the Big 10 championship in the 200 backstroke and was second in the 100 backstroke his freshman year with the Boilermakers. He would have won several more titles in the 200 backstroke, but the Olympic trials winner, Roy Sharp, then came to Michigan. Daly was 14th in the 100 backstroke and 12th in the 200 backstroke at the Olympic trials held in Indianapolis. "It was a great experience," said Daly. "I knew I wasn't going to qualify, but still you are going against the best." After graduating from Purdue in 1994 with a degree in exercise science and being named an Academic All-America (he went on to get a master's in education from Purdue in 1997), Daly took a job in Doylestown as a counselor in the juvenile detention center for a year. "I loved that job; I'd still be there if not for the money," he said. "I only got $7.25 an hour." Daly went back to Purdue to get a degree in education and then headed out West and got a job at a junior high in Tempe, Ariz., and also began coaching at the Sun Devil Aquatic Club. Daly looked all settled, but four years ago he married Michelle, his college sweetheart, and being originally from Iowa she did not mind the cold, and he wanted to be closer to his family, so he moved to Lansdale. They have two children, Aidan, 3, and Kaelan, 10 months. "I didn't even have a job lined up," said Daly. "It was a complete leap of faith and I got lucky." Daly was hired as a guidance counselor at North Penn High School and he also became an assistant to head swim coach Brian Faikish for one of the top programs around. "It's a lot different than Wood in terms of expectations, they are so much greater," said Daly. "They know the tradition and expectations of North Penn swimming. They know what the name on the back of their jacket means." Daly may not be a former North Penn swimmer, but he has a pretty good tradition by himself. "Once in a while Faikish will throw (Daly's accomplishments) out at them," he said. "They usually listen a little more."

2003-2004 Wood Swimming Awards

Captains - Captains are chosen at the beginning of the swim season by the members of the swim team. The number of captains for each team is determined by the size of each team. The captains have many responsibilities throughout the year. Captains must provide leadership among the team. Each captain has special skills that they bring to the team, whether it is showing the younger swimmers what to do in a big meet, providing spirit and enthusiasm throughout the year, organizing social activities to keep the team close, showing dedication during the year by hard work in practice or providing some humor to keep everyone loose, being a captain can often make the difference between the team having a good year and a great year. Captains receive a captains bar pin from the team at the beginning of the year to wear on their sweat suit and a captain pin at the end of the year.

Varsity Letters - Varsity letters are given to swimmers who place in the top 18 at the Philadelphia Catholic League Championships. Each person who places in the top 18 scores points towards the League Championship and swims in one of the final heats on Sunday. First time letter winners receive an Archbishop Wood letter and a swimming pin. Previous letter winners receive a bar that can be pinned to their letter signifying they have achieved letter status again.

JV Letters - JV letters are given to swimmers who have shown hard work with a willingness to learn and be part of the team whether it is through spirit, enthusiasm or dedication. JV letter winners receive a certificate signifying their achievement.

All-Catholic - All-Catholic is a special honor given out by the Philadelphia Catholic League. Swimmers who place 1st, 2nd or 3rd in an individual event or 1st or 2nd in a relay earn First Team All-Catholic Honors. Swimmers who place 4th, 5th or 6th in an individual event or 3rd in a relay earn Second Team All-Catholic Honors. All-Catholic status is the highest honor given out to swimmers in the Catholic League and earning this distinction means that you are truly one of the best in the League. All swimmers who receive All-Catholic honors are listed in the Catholic Standard and Times plus given an All-Catholic certificate at the end of the year. All swimmers who earn First Team All-Catholic distinction receive a star at the end of the year which may be pinned to their letter.

Outstanding Swimmer of the Year Award - This award is given to the swimmer who has consistently been the most valuable to the team throughout the year.

Rookie of the Year Award - This award is given to the Freshman who has consistently been the most productive throughout the year.

Most Improved Swimmer Award - This award is given to the swimmer who has shown great improvement in time from one season to the next or from the beginning of the season to the end of the season.

Dedication Award - This award is given to the swimmer who has shown extraordinary hard work and effort throughout the year, both in practice and meets.

Spirit Award - This award is given to the swimmer who has shown unparalleled enthusiasm and spirit throughout the year in all facets of swimming.

Viking Award - This award is given for a combination of attributes. This award goes to the swimmer who has shown a combination of dedication, hard work, enthusiasm, improvement, humor plus an intangible that makes everyone take notice.

Black & Gold Award - This award is given to a beginner swimmer who has shown through hard work and dedication that improvement from the beginning stages of swimming to real team contribution is possible.
